

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

LECTURER

The University of Georgia
College of Education
Department of Lifelong Education, Administration, and Policy

The University of Georgia invites applications for a full time Lecturer, a non-tenure track position, in the Program in Educational Administration and Policy (EDAP). This is a 9 month, full time teaching position with opportunities for employment in the summer. The EDAP program offers an M.Ed., L-5 certification, an Ed.S, and a Ph.D. in educational administration and policy. Courses in the EDAP curriculum are typically offered in the evenings both on the UGA campus in Athens and in Gwinnett County, a suburb of Atlanta. For more information about the Program, see: <http://www.coe.uga.edu/leap/adminpolicy/about/index.html>

Qualifications: Required qualifications include an earned doctorate (by July 2008) in Educational Administration, Educational Leadership, or other closely related field; expertise and ability to teach master's level courses in educational administration/leadership; and excellent communication and interpersonal skills.

Recent K12 administrative experience is preferred.

Responsibilities: The successful candidate will be expected to teach graduate level courses in educational administration/leadership; advise master's, L-5, and Ed.S. students and serve on M.Ed. and Ed.S. oral exam committees; coordinate placement of students in the practicum/field experience; and supervise students enrolled in the practicum/field experience.

Chartered in 1785 the University of Georgia is the Nation's oldest state chartered university (www.uga.edu). The University of Georgia is consistently ranked among the Nation's leading public research universities and seeks to sustain and advance this history of success through the recruitment and retention of an excellent and diverse faculty. The University of Georgia offers a competitive compensation and benefits package with an affordable cost of living, an attractive location in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains in close proximity to Atlanta, a mild climate, and an excellent quality of life in a vibrant multicultural community.

Applications received by November 20, 2007 are assured of full consideration. Printed copies of a letter of application, complete vitae, and the names of three references are required. Transcripts and letters of reference will be required only from finalists. All materials and queries should be sent to:
