* Connect, share, and collaborate with other qualitative researchers *

* Discover new ways qualitative methods can enrich your work *

* Find resources for teaching and mentoring students *

* Join us in pioneering new approaches at the cutting edge of psychology *

SQIP 2017 Annual Conference
Fordham University (Lincoln Center)
May 24th and 25th, 2017

Keynote Presenters:

The Bronx African American History Project
Fordham University

Dr. Kim Hopper
Mailman School of Public Health, Columbia University

Plenary Session on “Validity in Psychological Research Reconsidered” by SQIP founders Kenneth Gergen, Ruthellen Josselson, Mark Freeman; Scott Churchill

Symposia, themed paper sessions, and posters
Breakfasts, lunches and receptions

Registration and more information at qualpsy.org/2017

The Society for Qualitative Inquiry in Psychology (SQIP) is a Section of the American Psychological Association Division 5.

Our goal is to develop and disseminate qualitative methods for acquiring knowledge of psychological life (broadly conceived including lived experience, expression, practice, and social conduct).