RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY

Language Minority Children Analysis Project

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), Institute of Education Sciences is providing research opportunities for graduate students. The Language Minority Children Analysis Project, which is being coordinated by the National Center for Research on Evaluation, Standards, and Student Testing (CRESST), encourages the analysis of NCES data from the Early Childhood Longitudinal Study (ECLS) and the National Household Education Surveys Program (NHES).

Support for graduate student researchers range from $2,000 to $15,000 for projects up to 7 months, depending on the scope of the plan. For application materials and more information, please visit www.cresst.org/lmc.

Application Deadline: July 23, 2004
